Pastor's Pause—Advent Adventures: Journey of Hope, Peace, Love, and Joy

November 29, 2015 begins our Advent Journey here at Palm Schwenkfelder Church. For four Sundays we will be lighting the Advent candles of Hope, Peace, Love, and Joy, but my prayer is that Advent will not be only a Sunday occurrence in our lives. Each week in Advent provides us with the opportunity to awaken to the presence and promise of God in every moment. This year during our daily time of prayer, you are invited to share in a specific Scripture reading. I encourage you to embrace these moments as a time of devotion and to reflect upon God's gifts of Hope, Peace, Love, and Joy as we prepare to celebrate the coming of Christ.

The listing of our daily readings you can find below and will also be a part of our weekly calendar in the bulletin. During this Advent Season, as we pray and study together, may God lead us all to deepen our faith in Jesus Christ the Savior throughout our Advent Adventure.

- If you currently have a key card or key fob for the church, please stop in the office sometime so Dan can verify the information associated with your key card. In the summer, our system was down and we were unable to verify key ownership as we passed keys out to new Trustees. Our system is now up and running, so we want to make sure our records are accurate. In addition, if you have a key card or key fob that you no longer need, please return it to the office so we can recycle it. Otherwise, we will have to purchase more key cards for members who need access to the church.
- The Board of Trustees is searching for a few more people who would be willing to serve as proofreaders for the weekly bulletin and the monthly newsletter. We are looking for people to assist Jean Ross, our trusted long-time proofreader, with these proofreading tasks, especially when Jean is on vacation.
- If you chair a committee or are the designated secretary, please submit your annual reports as soon as possible. It would be great if they could all be in by the end of December. Also, committees and organizations, please have your books in the office by January 14, 2016, so they can be audited.

Thank you,
Board of Trustees

Caspar's Corner—A Biography of George Weiss

George Weiss was the first spiritual leader of the Schwenkfelders who left Harpersdorf and settled in Berthelsdorf. Weiss was well regarded at that time for his organization and production of the first Schwenkfelder hymnal. He also wrote several hymns for it himself, including a long series of hymns called "Meditations." Weiss did not become the chosen leader of the Schwenkfelders until shortly before it was time to leave Berthelsdorf for Pennsylvania. Below is a biography written by his childhood friend Balthasar Hoffmann in 1753. This translation appears in Allen Anders Seipt's thesis on Schwenkfelder Hymnology (1909) on pp. 76-77.

George Weiss was born in Harpersdorf, a village in the principality of Liegnitz in Silesia; his father was Caspar Weiss, born in Deutmannsdorf; his mother Anna (nee) Anders, born in Harpersdorf, and both were plain, poor and insignificant, as the world goes. George had a brother named Caspar, and a sister, Mary; both died in Silesia in the bloom of youth. In 1715 he married. His wife was Anna (née) Meschter, born in Langneundorf; she accompanied him to this country and died shortly after the landing at Philadelphia. She is buried there in the Pilgrims' cemetery. They had an infant son whom they named Abraham, who was taken from them in his second year. So that in this country he was quite poor and alone, a plain man and, as the world goes, unimportant. But because he exhibited a seemly zeal for the Holy Scriptures, and was minded to please God and honor Him (although in great frailty and in the face of many obstacles) God bestowed upon him in magnificent measure a talent for interpreting Holy Writ, for disclosing the mysteries of God, and for discerning sound Christian doctrine in these latter doubtful days. For this reason, he was chosen as our head (regarding ourselves as a congregation), as our chief in our Confession of Faith, as our leader in Christian living, and as the guide of our youth. Thereby we attested that his qualification for these duties was recognized.

"...because he exhibited a seemly zeal for the Holy Scriptures, and was minded to please God and honor Him (although in great frailty and in the face of many obstacles) God bestowed upon him in magnificent measure a talent for interpreting Holy Writ..."

And having (in accordance with his judgment, and after consultation with his conscience and long agonizing before God) arranged a plan for religious services and an order of worship, and having manifested therewith such a zeal for God that certain signs and indications appeared of the correctness of such a course, the direct course to salvation through penitence; namely, a full apprehension and mortification of our depravity, in true humility, sorrow and prayer; self-sacrifice and surrender to the will of God, and the daily renewal of these things; the zealous practice of Scriptural discipline, with daily supplication for the unlocking of the divine mysteries and for grace for the mending and renewing of our lives, under the direction of the Scriptures having conducted such a ministry for four years, with a true passion for God and the salvation of men, during the last year his strength failed appreciably, and a subsequent illness warned him of his approaching end. But in spite of his frailty he continued zealous, in as far as this was at all possible, confined to his bed. His illness was chiefly of the nature of exhaustion, with some pleurisy (it was said to be gastric fever). He had no desire for food and suffered intense pains in the abdomen. And thus on the eleventh of March, 1740, in full possession of his faculties and in the fifty-third year of his age, he was called away, and his body was conveyed to its interment. He is buried at Schippach on a plot of ground belonging to George Yeakel.

Presented by Allen Viehmeyer
December 9, 2015 at noon

On Wednesday, December 10th at noon, come to the Schwenkfelder Library and Heritage Center to hear a presentation by Allen Viehmeyer about the Perkiomen School. Original photos of the outside and inside of the buildings on the Perkiomen campus between the 1900s and the 1930s give a good glimpse into campus life during those times. Some of the old course catalogs give interesting rules and regulations for boarding and day students. Come and find out what the campus, students, teachers, and activities looked like some 90 years ago.

Address Changes/Updates

As a service to our members, any address changes that come through the office will now be listed in the Palm Leaves. If you have any information on members who have may have moved, or if any of the addresses listed appear to be incorrect, please call the office to let us know. Thank You.
